Fees

Your account may be charged for some or all of the costs and expenses of operating the Plan. Such expenses include the following:

- The Plan will charge all Participants a quarterly fee for investment services. This fee is based on an asset management schedule that includes several breakpoints. The total plan assets (including cash) are combined for purposes of reaching breakpoints for all participants. Cash held is also included in the calculation of the total fee.
- The Plan will charge the affected Participant for the expenses of receiving a distribution following termination of employment in the following manner: $150 will be charged for a distribution after Termination of Employment. An administrative processing fee will be charged to eliminate certain small Account distributions.

- The Plan will charge the affected Participant an initial loan processing fee if you obtain a loan. The loan processing fee is $150 and an ongoing loan maintenance fee of the annual maintenance fee for any outstanding loan is $50.
- If a terminated participant account balance falls below $165 (The $150 distribution fee plus the $15 quarterly fee), then the participant balance effectively becomes $0 so the account can be closed.

The fees listed above are subject to change. Please check with the Plan Administrator to be sure you have a current fee listing.

Access Financial Resources, Inc. Fiduciary Adviser Disclosure

This document contains important information about Access Financial Resources, Inc. (AFR) and how it is compensated for the investment advice provided to you. You should carefully consider this information in your evaluation of that advice. AFR has been selected to provide investment advisory services for your 401(k) Plan. AFR will be providing these services as a fiduciary under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA). AFR, therefore, must act prudently and with only your interest in mind when providing you recommendations on how to invest your retirement assets.

Compensation of the Fiduciary Adviser and Related Parties

AFR is compensated by the plan for the advice it provides. This compensation is either a retainer or asset based fee, which includes cash holdings. The compensation is either paid by you with a check or you will see it deducted on your statement. However, AFR is not compensated on the basis of the investment(s) selected by you.

When AFR recommends that you invest your assets in an investment and you follow that advice, then AFR will not receive compensation from the investment fund based on the amount you invest. Specific information concerning the fees and other charges of each investment is available from Fidelity.com, Yahoo Finance, etc. This information should be reviewed carefully before you make an investment decision.

When AFR recommends that you take an IRA rollover or other distribution from the plan, or recommends how those assets should subsequently be invested, you have the option to hire AFR separately to provide investment advice. Should you hire AFR, then it will receive compensation under the new contract. This compensation is usually either a retainer or asset based fee. The compensation is either paid by you with a check or you will see it deducted on your statement. However, AFR is not compensated on the basis of the investment(s) selected by you. As always, all recommendations should be reviewed carefully by you before a decision to take a distribution is made.

Consider Impact of Compensation on Advice

The compensation that AFR receives for providing investment advice on accounts, like yours, is a significant source of revenue. Again, however, AFR is not compensated on the basis of the investment(s) selected by you. You should carefully consider the impact of any such compensation in your evaluation of the investment advice that AFR provides to you. However, at your own expense you may personally arrange for advice by another adviser of your choice that may have no material affiliation with and/or receive no compensation in direct connection with the investment funds or products offered under the plan.

Investment Returns

While investment-related fees and expenses are important in making informed investment decisions, it is also important to consider additional information about your investment options, such as performance, investment strategies and risks. To the extent required, specific information related to the past performance and historical rates of return of the investment options available under the plan have been provided (and/or made available) to you by AFR, Fidelity Investments, and/or Yahoo Finance, as well as others. Note that investment returns vary over time and past performance does not guarantee how your investment will perform in the future. To that end, any investment you choose, or any investment we recommend, could lose money.

Parties Participating in Development of Advice Program or Selection of Investment Options

AFR has developed a short list of investments to choose from, but the investment choices in your account are extensive. Your account is an Individual Brokerage Account. You can purchase most securities in this type of account such as mutual funds, exchange traded funds (ETFs), certificates of deposit, stocks, and bonds, etc. Many mutual funds can be purchased at no-load, no-transaction fee; however, some mutual fund share classes do have loads and transaction fees associated with them. Stocks and ETF's have trading fees when you Buy and Sell the shares. The cost to trade shares is usually $4.95, but it may be more in the case of large share transactions. As always, you are welcome to work with one of our team of advisors to develop a portfolio to fit your individual needs.

AFR is committed to safeguarding the confidential information of its clients. To that end, we hold all personal information provided to our firm in the strictest confidence. NOTICE OF MULTIPLE STATEMENTS

This Notice of Multiple Statements is furnished to advise you that more than one statement or source for benefit information may be combined to provide you with the information on your benefit in your 401(k) Plan. The following indicates how benefit information could be provided to you.

1. Website/Electronic Data – Participants can request online viewing access to their account at no additional cost. Depending on which online access has been activated, the participant may lose online account access (as well as any information uploaded or inputted into the system) in the event the participant no longer works for the plan sponsor and does not hire Access Financial Resources, Inc. as their investment adviser.
2. Participant statements/ records – Types of records for their account:
 - a. Fidelity statements
 - b. Statements from Advisors Plan Administrators, LLC – shows vested balance, balance by source, etc.
 - c. Trade confirmations/ notices – when a trade is placed in your account, Fidelity will send a notice to the address of record.
3. Account Balance – Fidelity sends out a monthly statement (quarterly if no activity) to give you the balance in the account. However, Fidelity will not show any personal 401k loans or non-qualified holdings in the account, so these amounts would need to be added back into the balance.
4. Vesting – Summary plan description or annual safe harbor notice will give you the vesting schedule for your plan.
5. Permitted Disparity - Method of computing and allocating non-elective contributions under an employer sponsored plan, where the allocation method results in participants with compensation above the integration level receiving a higher percentage of contribution, if applicable to your plan.
6. Value of Assets – the Fidelity statements will show an itemized value for each investment in your account.
7. Self Direction – Participants have the right to direct their investments. Participants can change their current investment allocation by completing new 401(k) Enrollment Form online at www.afradvice.com. Participants have the right to change their investment allocation at any time, but may be subject to short term redemption fees.
8. Diversification - A risk management technique that mixes a wide variety of investments within a portfolio. The rationale behind this technique contends that a portfolio of different kinds of investments will, on average, yield higher returns and pose a lower risk than any individual investment found within the portfolio.
9. DOL Website - Additional investment and diversification information for a participant directed account can be accessed at the DOL website, www.dol.gov/.
